How to Find a Provider

Finding quality child care can be a challenge. The Family Child Care Office provides a Resource and Referral listing and can further assist you in this search. Personal assistance is also available. The FCC Office has dedicated the hour from 8 - 9 a.m. Monday - Friday for parents wanting personal assistance from the FCC Coordinators. If unable to meet with the coordinators during this time, please call 294-9016.

Tips on making your selection:

- Interview several providers in advance.
- Ask for references. If possible, contact parents who currently use the provider, as well as those whose children are no longer in care. Don't be afraid to ask questions about the care provided in the home.
- Ensure the home is licensed. The Mission Support Group commander licenses all FCC homes. Look for the FCC logos in their front windows and license posted within the home.
- Ask about provider backup availability in the event the provider is unable to provide care for your child.
- Spend time with the provider to see if his/her childrearing practices are compatible with your own.
- Let the provider interact with your child. Parents should try to select a FCC provider whom your child feels at ease with. Does the provider respond and talk to all children in a positive, warm and understanding way?

- Ask very specific questions about the provider's discipline techniques. Family Child Care providers are prohibited from using corporal punishment, even with parental permission.

- Clarify your needs and expectations. Be sure you and the provider understand all that is expected from the child care arrangement. Do the program philosophies and values coincide with your own?

- Review the provider contract prior to signing.

- Ask about flexibility of provider's hours. If your duty schedule changes unexpectedly, will the provider be available to care for your child?

- Look for evidence of good hygiene and sanitary conditions. All licensed homes are inspected monthly. Ask to review the provider's last home inspection or drop by the Family Child Care office for information.

- Review activity plans. Do the activities planned for the children offer a balance of inside/outside and child/teacher initiated activities? If you need further assistance, have questions or concerns, contact the Family Child

About Us

Our goal is to ensure quality child care is available to military members and Department of Defense employees so they can successfully perform their mission duties, secure in the knowledge their children are cared for in a safe, healthy and loving environment. The Family Child Care program is designed to provide an alternative to center-based care with flexible hours and small groups in home settings. Our program also offers an opportunity for spouses to contribute to the family income while caring for children at home.

Advantages of Using a Family Child Care Home

- Affordable quality child care
- Flexible hours to include care for shift workers
- Provisions for special needs care
- Small group settings
- Home atmosphere
- Hourly care
- Full and part-day care

Ratio

There are no more than six children that may be cared for at one time and only two children under the age of 2. This number includes the provider's own children under eight years of age.

Eligibility

Children of active duty military personnel or DoD civilians employed on base, ages two weeks through 12 years are eligible for care.

This program accepts children and providers with chronic health problems including HIV positive individuals.

Our Providers

- First Aid and CPR certified
- Trained in Child Abuse Identification and Prevention
- Screened by Family Advocacy, Life Skills, Housing, Security Forces and Air Force Office of Special Investigations
- Serve Nutritional Meals
- Approved by Fire, Safety, and Public Health Agencies

- Have unannounced monthly inspections
- Required to have 24 hours of training per year.
- Must be approved by the Mission Support Group Commander

Child Care for PCS Program

This program provides active duty Air Force members with 20 free hours of child care (per child) in approved FCC homes.

- Air Force families with PCS orders can obtain an Air Force Aid Society (AFAS) Child Care for PCS Certificate at the Airman & Family Readiness Center (A&FRC). Families can receive a certificate at both the base from which they are departing and again at their new base. Certificates are good only at the base where they are issued—unused hours do not transfer from one base to another. Families may use the 20 hours of child care within 60 days before the family's departure from a base, and 60 days after arriving at the new base.
- PCS Care for Army, Navy & Marines: Army Navy and Marine families are eligible to receive 20 hours of free child care within 60 days of arriving or departing Offutt AFB. The military member should call the FCC office 294-9016, to arrange an appointment to receive paperwork and instructions to take advantage of this program. It is run through the Air Force Expanded Child Care Program operated by the FCC.

AFAS Child Care for Volunteers Program

Recognizing the importance of volunteers to the base community, the AFAS will pay child care expenses in AF licensed or affiliated FCC homes for volunteers engaged in supporting programs, which benefit the AF community. This funding supports as many volunteers at various base agencies, as possible. This program is not intended for volunteers in resale (Thrift Shop), fund raising or social activities.

Extended Duty Care Program

The Family Child Care Program can assist when your military job has you working extended hours. Licensed Family Child Care Providers can pick up your child from other on-base child care programs and provide care for those additional hours with no additional cost to the parent.

Hourly Child Care

Offers parents more flexibility with hours of operation such as including odd hour care, evening, weekend and/or overnight care.

Pre-Deployment Child Care

This program provides 16 free hours of child care for those who are deploying 30 days or more in support of contingency operations and may be used once every 6 months.

Deployment Child Care

This program provides 16 free hours of child care for spouses of those who are deployed 30 days or more in support of contingency and may be used once every 6 months.

Returning Home Care

This program provides 16 free hours of child care for those who have been deployed 30 days or more in support of contingency and may be used once every 6 months.

Subsidy Program

The Subsidy Program subsidizes a portion of child care expenses. This program is available at bases where there is a CDC waiting list. It is also available for parents working alternate work schedules. The FCC Coordinator calculates parent fees by using DoD guidelines on Total Family Income. Check with the FCC Coordinator for program availability.

Additional types of care available include the following:

Special Needs

Full time, part-day, before and after school care

Swing/mid-shift

TDY

Weekends
